Dog tormentor jailed

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A MAN has been jailed and banned from keeping animals for life after locking his dog in a bathroom and leaving it to die.

Christopher Burden, 22, who is currently serving eight months in prison for a separate offence, pleaded guilty to failing to meet the welfare needs of a bull mastiff known as Kane and was sentenced at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court yesterday.

He also pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking a disqualification order, made by magistrates on September 6 2004, which banned him from keeping any animals for five years.

The dog was found by RSPCA inspector Dave Braybrooke locked in the bathroom of a house in Minerva Gardens, Wavendon Gate on July 23 last year.

RSPCA prosecutor, Janita Patel, said the inspector found the dog in a 'terrible state' in a room that smelled strongly of ammonia. Its skeletal bones were so visible he thought the dog was dead," she said.

"The dog tried to lift its head but could not more than a matter of millimetres."

Vet Graham Hammond said he had never seen a dog so thin and still alive in 30 years of practice.

Kane weighed only 24.4kg and was suffering from severe muscle wastage, dehydration, diarrhoea, and had severe bruising and ulcerations to his skin where he had been lying in its own urine.

The vet said it had been starved for at least two weeks.

The dog was immediately hospitalised and has since gained nearly 30kg, but is permanently scarred.

Silpa Mistry,defending Burden said he bought the dog with his partner who he later split up with before moving to Mansfield.

Burden, who previously pleaded not guilty to four charges in relation to the offence, claimed he gave the dog to a friend, but now accepts responsibility.

"He is remorseful and feels extremely ashamed that the dog has suffered in this way," said Miss Mistry.

Burden pleaded guilty to failing to provide protection to the animal from pain, injury, suffering and disease and an adequate supply of food and fresh water.

Burden was sentenced to serve five months in prison for each charge, to run at the same time.

He was also disqualified from keeping animals for life and cannot apply for this to be revoked for a least ten years and, must pay vets costs of £1,900 when he is released from jail.

Insp.Braybrooke said: "We are very happy. If we hadn't gone in that day it would have been dead by the following morning. Kane has now been re homed and has a lovely family life."

Parks given high priority in plans for city's future

MILTON Keynes is set to have 667acres (270 hectares) of new parkland over the next ten years.

More than 20 per cent of Milton Keynes' planned expansion will be dedicated as green space and will include 33 children's play areas, 27 hectares of playing fields and many informal areas of woodlands, meadows and ponds.

As part of the planned expansion this green space and the funds to take care of it will be handed over to The Parks Trust to manage in perpetuity.

The Parks Trust is a self-financing charity dedicated to taking care of Milton Keynes' major parks and green spaces and already manages 4,500 acres of land including Campbell Park, Linford Wood, Ouzel Valley and Willen Lake.

The Trust announced the proposed handover of the land at their public meeting, at Campbell Park Cricket Pavilion last week.

The new parks and green spaces will be laid out in four main areas – the western and eastern expansion areas, Stantonbury Park Farm and Newton Leys.

Other development, such as that under way at Tattenhoe Park will also add to the amount of green space handed to the Trust. Approximately the same proportion of green space (20 per cent) as in the existing city area will be dedicated to green space in the expansion areas.

The Parks Trust is working with a wide range of bodies and stakeholders, including Milton Keynes Partnership, Milton Keynes Council and developers to ensure the new parks are delivered in line with the Trust's vision of 'inspirational parks that are valued by local people' and created to the same high standards of its existing parkland.

A bike rider meets a sculpture in Campbell park

In most cases the new parks will be established first by the developers and then transferred after an initial period into the custodianship of The Parks Trust.

David Foster, Chief Executive of The Parks Trust, said: "We're incredibly proud of our parks, lakes and woodlands and excited about gaining more green space.

"Whatever your view about the city's development we're convinced that providing our landscape advice and expertise to the developers at this stage will ensure that we'll have great parks to be enjoyed by all in the future.

"The decision to hand over these new parks by the council and Milton Keynes Partnerships is a ringing endorsement of our success at managing most of Milton Keynes' existing parks."

Victim's fury as knife attacker let off with caution

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE victim of a knife attack on his own doorstep is furious police have not taken the person responsible to court.

Instead the woman was given a caution and made to say sorry.

Mark Woods, from Eddington Court, Emerson Valley claims he was attacked by a woman with a four-inch-long serrated kitchen knife in the early hours of Friday, June 20.

He said he and his wife were woken at around 4am by someone banging on their front door.

"I only opened the door at four in the morning as I thought she must be in trouble," he said.

"I opened it and she raised a knife up and went towards me.

"I tried to close the door, there was a struggle for about ten seconds then I managed it.

"She was hacking at the UPVC door. There are chunks missing.

"She was trying to force her way in.

"I seriously thought she was going to stab me."

Mr Woods' partner Lisa called the police, who sent an armed response to the scene.

The woman was arrested, but was later released with a conditional caution and asked that she write an apology to Mr Woods and buy him a new front door.

But Mr Woods, a software engineer who has lived in Emerson Valley for more than five years, says this is not enough and has sent a formal complaint to Thames Valley Police and the Crown Prosecution Service.

"I was astounded, you do not expect that to happen with such a serious case," he said.

"One of the charges she was cautioned for, having a bladed article in public, you can get up for four years in prison for."

He said he is horrified nothing has been done to stop it happening again.

"It was totally random, I have had nothing to do with this woman. It could have happened to anyone.

Victim Mark Woods stands by his door with the knife holes still in it

"There are young families and sheltered accommodation for old people in this area, it could have been much worse."

"I don't think the police and the CPS are taking their duty to protect the community seriously."

A spokesman for Thames Valley Police said: "Each incident reported to us is thoroughly assessed to identify the appropriate action to be taken.

"The decision on whether to charge someone or not is made on a case-by-case basis taking numerous factors into account.

"We work within the guidelines set down by the Government and in some cases take advice and guidance from the Crown Prosecution Service (CPS).

"We do take complaints about our service seriously and do have a proper process for dealing with them.

"Anyone with complaints about Thames Valley Police should contact our Quality of Service Unit via email at QoSUnit@thamesvalley.pnn.police.uk or in writing to the Quality of Service Unit, Thames Valley Police HQ, Oxford Road, Kidlington, Oxford, OX5 2NX."

Attacker awaits sentence after leaving man blind in both eyes

A MAN has pleaded guilty to blinding another man in both eyes.

Benjamin Gibson, 22, from Permayne, New Bradwell, assaulted the man in the early hours of Friday April 18.

The victim suffered extensive injuries to his eyes and stab wounds to his neck and body.

The 'vicious attack' is thought to have followed an argument at Gibson's home.

Gibson pleaded guilty to grievous bodily harm with intent at Luton Crown Court on Monday and has been remanded in custody. He will return to court on August 22 for sentencing.

Detective Constable Iain O'Kane, who led the investigation, said: "This was a vicious attack which has deprived a young man of his sight.

"The victim and his family have had to come to terms with the fact that he will spend the rest of this life blind in both eyes. Clearly this has left them devastated.

"The officers involved in the search for Benjamin Gibson acted extremely quickly and arrested the suspect within hours of the assault taking place.

"We are pleased that Gibson saved his victim and the family from any further trauma by pleading guilty to the offence.

"He must now reflect on all the pain he has caused and the lasting affect his actions have had on the victim's life."

MK LETTERS

Letters to The Editor, MK NEWS, 1 Diamond Court, Fox Milne, Milton Keynes MK15 0DU | letters@mk-news.co.uk

Making life a bit easier

SIR - While reading MK letters and having a cuppa, I couldn't help but laugh out loud when I read the letter 'Baffledegook' about the boy who has just got a shared ownership place.

I laughed so much that tea shot out of my nose at such a tremendous speed, spraying my entire family, including the dog.

I don't know the circumstances of the said son, whether or not he is physically capable of picking up a phone, but stone the crows have we reached a stage, nowadays that everything has to be done for our children.

And what is this woman moaning about? She will be the first to complain if somebody else used her credit card pretending to be her (these procedures are there to protect you missus). Hoorah to the guy from the council.

Great they bought him a place to live, sorted this and that. I wonder is he an astronaut or something and not in this solar system to sort his own life out?

Crikey, what is he going to do when faced with a real problem? Oh yes, mum and dad will sort it.

Moddlecoddle-degook!

Netherfield residents have it better than those in West Bletchley

SIR - I would like to reply to the resident of Netherfield who feels the estate 'has been left behind'.

You state the area has been there 25 years but it was actually begun in 1972 and completed in 1977. The houses were not temporary, the whole estate won architectural design awards because they were metal-clad and in the 70s considered very modern.

They did have a bad problem with the joists being too far apart causing 'bounce' in the upper rooms but this was sorted out.

You think your estate has been forgotten, I will say once again that tenants in West Bletchley which was built 1964/65 still have SINGLE GLAZED metal framed windows.

These are the original windows making them more than 40 years old and no matter how these people complain nothing gets done.

You mentioned all your flat roofs were changed to pitch roofs well we have a school on this estate that still has flat roofs and pays out a fortune every year to have them re-waterproofed all out of their allocated spending money.

So I am sorry if you are not happy with the house you have just purchased (maybe you should have gone to another area to buy) but their are a lot of properties in MK, especially the original areas, that are in far more need than you for updating of their homes.

Muslim money target

SIR - It has been reported that the government is handing more than £361,000 to Milton Keynes Council as a part of combating Islamic extremism and the money will be distributed over the next three years.

Nationally the government is spending more than £13.5 million for this programme. Milton Keynes has a small Muslim population which is concentrated in Wolverton and Bletchley.

As Isobel McCall, leader of the council has rightly said that there is no problem of Islamic terrorists operating in Milton Keynes.

The money should not be handed over to Muslim groups since they operate as religiously segregated organisations.

They have their own football clubs, luncheon club for old people,anti-drug group and so on.

It is true that young Muslim people are becoming sufficiently dissatisfied with their lives in liberal-democratic societies. One has to find the reasons for that.

Muslims in Milton Keynes live in segregated areas very close to the Mosques and Halal meat shops.. Mosques are becoming breeding place for radical Islam.

It is not surprising why there are fights between groups for the control of Mosques in Milton Keynes.

They have no contact with the local population.

The local council provides interpreters for Muslim men and women at the hospital, police station, schools and so on.

Most of the Muslim children are under-achievers since they go to 'bog standard' comprehensives.

A high percentage of young Muslims end up as taxi drivers or restaurant owners or workers and their aspirations are limited.

There is no need for taxi drivers to take the test in English or for the cooks to learn English. Britain is the only European country where people can live for generations without learning the local language.

The council should make sure that the money is given to schools to provide bi-lingual teachers, social workers and youth workers and make sure that the youngsters get a good education with better job prospects and move out of the area.

The money should be given to organisations that help to assimilate Muslims with mainstream society.

Takeaway torment

SIR - I have been asked to write this letter on behalf of the Netherfield Residents Association regarding a recent planning application that has been granted for yet ANOTHER takeaway on Netherfield.

Objections were submitted on this application by the residents association, the parish council and individual residents, yet once again we have not been listened to by the councillors that make the decisions.

At present we have numerous takeaways on Netherfield – some may say we are lucky, but this is not the case.

Consider this, continuous bad smells, extreme noise from the prominent extractor fans especially at night, added traffic from users of the takeaways and out-of-hours deliveries, additional rubbish and rats, and this is 7 days a week from early morning till the early hours of the next morning.

I will add that the majority of people using these establishments do not live on Netherfield and residents have witnessed users regularly urinating at the back of these shops.

We are told that Netherfield is one of the most deprived estates, with residents having more health problems than other areas, in fact we are told that our life expectancy is ten years shorter than other areas.

Supposedly because of this situation extra money is spent in the area by the council to promote healthy living, so why allow more takeaways on here?

Perhaps MKC wants to kill off the residents that little bit sooner with a high fat and salt intake so that they can bulldoze the estate as most residents fear.

We are very lucky to have a shopping precinct, but there needs to be a balance of shops. Instead we have an intensification of takeaways which is causing problems for the residents.

I have been told by Milton Keynes Council that because we have a shopping precinct, permission will be granted, but it doesn't seem to take in to account that Netherfield is a residential estate and there are homes within 40 metres to the front and rear of from these establishments.

We are disappointed that councillors Bint, Butler-Ellis, Exon, A Geary, P Geary,Galloway, E Henderson and Miles (none of whom live in Netherfield, or are councillors for this area) voted – it seems – unanimously for this additional takeaway, and I wonder if any of them are unfortunate enough to live so close to numerous takeaways themselves. I don't think so!

So while they drive off into the sunset Netherfield residents are left with all the problems that can come from having these fast food outlets.

The residents association has objected to many of these takeaways, including an application from one of these takeaways to remain open till 4am which was granted by the council's licensing department. We have been ignored on every one.

I would like to remind these councillors who sit on these committees that we will not go away and will continue to object to further applications of takeaways and will also be making a note of the political parties they belong to when elections come around again.

Ms Janette Bobey on behalf of the Netherfield residents association

Box-ing clever

SIR - Your report last week on one of our MPs having a new role inspecting toilets allowed a clever use of the term 'bog-standard', which is normally a spelling error. My congratulations to your headline writer for such a neat pun.

The widely used term for a standard or unimproved item originates from motor racing, where some rules specified that the vehicle and all replacement parts must be used exactly as they come out of the manufacturer's crates or cartons.

So as any motor-sport aficionado will tell you, although it sounds the same, the correct spelling in everyday use is of course 'box-standard'.

John Bint
Monkston Park

Cab confusion

SIR - Your article last week by Jessica Cunniffe stated that one use of spy cameras was to watch for taxis breaking the law.

Yet every day the law is broken dozens of times by 'unlicensed' cabs operating in the Milton Keynes area, which is licensed by South Northamptonshire and not Milton Keynes taxi licensing.

Only if the journey starts or terminates in South Northamptonshire are they allowed to operate in this area.

Passengers must realise that if the journey operates wholly within the Milton Keynes licensing area then these cabs are operating illegally and they themselves are not covered by insurance in the event of an accident.

Having a Milton Keynes telephone number does not make firms a Milton Keynes cab company, and the fact that Thames Valley Police and Milton Keynes Council choose to ignore the fact does not make it legal.

School fears cash shortfall

A CITY school may not get enough funding for all its sixth form pupils.

Walton High may not receive adequate funding for its post sixteen pupils next year from the Learning and Skills Council.

MP Mark Lancaster raised the issue in Parliament after speaking with headteacher, Michelle Currie, who believes that the school will be unlikely to receive funding for all of its projected 360 sixth form pupils next year.

It will be left with a potential cash shortfall of approximately £200,000.

Mr Lancaster said: "We seem to be lurching from one funding crisis to the next here in the city.

"Gordon Brown was happy to bask in the reflected glory of the success of Walton High when he visited in 2004 but now seems reluctant to adequately fund it, frankly parents and pupils deserve better.

"Equally disappointing was the bizarre response from the Minister who clearly doesn't understand the difference between the various Government funds used for building schools rather than those used for running them."

Finance portfolio holder Councillor Sam Crooks said: "They may get some more money but not as much as they'd like.

"Obviously the council is sympathetic but it is up to the government of the day."

Michelle Currie chats with Gordon Brown and Tony Blair during their visit to Walton High in March 2004

An LSC spokesman said the matter is too complex to comment on at this time.

Mrs Currie was unavailable for comment.

Dancing on top of the world...

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

CITY street dance crew Nemisis are back following their success in reaching the final of Britain's Got Talent.

The troop were given a grand welcoming by Milton Keynes Theatre, with a photo shoot held on the theatre roof yesterday.

Since performing in the final of the national talent show aired to 14 million viewers on ITV on Saturday, May 31 the crew has been touring the UK with the winner and other finalists.

Whilst on the show the group, who are famous for rehearsing outdoors at the Milton Keynes Central train station, talked about their need for space and performance opportunities in the city.

This led Milton Keynes Theatre to invite them to the venue to discuss opportunities for the crew to use the theatre as a rehearsal and performance venue.

Elizabeth Adlington, chief executive at Milton Keynes Theatre, said: "Nemisis are an amazingly talented and likeable group of performers and they should be extremely proud of their fantastic achievements on Britain's Got Talent.

Back home, Nemisis on top of MK Theatre roof

"Their success has helped to raise the profile of local talent and the arts in Milton Keynes and, as such I felt it was important to welcome them home and see how Milton Keynes Theatre can help support them in the future."

Ishe Chirimuuta, from Nemisis, added: "It's been an incredible experience and we've enjoyed every minute of it.

"We all worked so hard to get to the final and the UK tour has been amazing with all the finalists being so supportive of each other.

"Now we're glad to be back home in MK and excited to be welcomed by Milton Keynes Theatre who have kindly offered us a regular rehearsal room and, we're hoping to perform here in the future so watch this space."

Teenagers arrested after old school blaze

THREE teenagers were arrested after a disused school building was burnt out in Wolverton on Friday night.

Emergency services were called to the fire at the Old Radcliffe School, Orchard Road at around 6.45pm.

Two fire crews from Great Holm and one from Newport Pagnell attended along with station manager Paul Harrison.

The fire damaged an entire disused school building, which measured 30 metres by 30 metres.

Firefighters used three main jets and one hose reel.

Police attended the scene and two 15-year-old boys and a 16-year-old girl were arrested on suspicion of arson.

The girl and one of the boys have been released on bail until August 11. The other boy has been released without charge.

Dragon boats draw huge crowd

THE seventh Milton Keynes Dragon Boat Festival drew bumper crowds on Sunday.
An estimated 14,000 people enjoyed the spectacle at Willen Lake with a record 60 crews entering.

The winners were Lifestyle Express representing landmark Wholesale.

Merklyn Hauck of organisers, Gable Events, said: "This year's Milton Keynes Dragon Boat Festival was the most successful ever with a record number of participants and spectators.

"Even racing ten dragon boats rather than the usual eight we had to turn a number of companies away because of the event's popularity.

"Electricity4business played a major part in the event's success in their second year as title sponsor and we are very grateful to them."

The nominated charity for the event was Keech Cottage Children's Hospice.

Officers from police specialist underwater search and recovery team removing the body from Tongwell Lake in February

Mystery surrounds Tongwell drowning

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE

jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

THE death of a popular 22-year-old man who drowned in Tongwell Lake in February was described as a 'mystery' by the coroner.

The body of David Dudden (pictured right), of Maulden Gardens, Giffard Park, was found floating in Tongwell Lake on February 11 by a worker on his lunch break.

The former Denbigh student lived with his grandmother, Christine Hazell, who last saw him on February 8 when he said he was going to his job at Wetherspoons.

However, the pub later told police he had not worked there for a year.

Mr Dudden was said to have felt low after the break up of his relationship, the death of his grandfather and the divorce of his parents, for which he had seen a child psychiatrist.

Former girlfriend Victoria Bretherton said: "He was a lovely and kind-hearted, but very very messed up."

There was a possible sighting of Mr Dudden the day before he died by Janice Cockram, a member of the public.

"It was a very frosty night and a beautiful day so I decided to have a walk around Tongwell," she told the court.

"There were lots of people there on that Sunday, it being such a good day.

"We came to a picnic table and there was a young man sitting there with his head in his hands. He looked so distressed."

However, Mr Dudden had also had been telling friends and family about his plans to get a flat and save up for a car.

MK Coroner Rodney Corner said he dismissed outright the possibility of suicide.

Though police said there were three cans of strong lager were found near the body, the pathologist said toxicology reports showed no evidence of any alcohol or drugs in his system.

The coroner said: "I have a feeling that all this is still a mystery to you.

"There's no evidence that could lead me to say he had taken his life – I dismiss that straight away.

"I'm in a quandary as to what happened – as you are.

"He had no difficulty in getting girlfriends, he was a popular man."

"It is all rather inconclusive," he added.

He recorded an open verdict.

Foundation stones laid at MK's University Centre

BUILDERS have started work on the city's new University Centre Milton Keynes (UCMK).

UCMK will be based in 200 Silbury Boulevard, Central Milton Keynes, and will open to students this September, offering a wide variety of degree-level courses.

Milton Keynes Partnership has provided an investment of £7.3m to purchase and refurbish the new home of UCMK.

The South East England Development Agency, (SEEDA) has provided a grant of £248,000 towards the cost of equipping the centre, matched by an investment of £250,000 from Milton Keynes College.

The College will lead the initiative and run the new Centre, which will initially have places for 700 full-time undergraduates.

A consortium of higher education partners including Milton Keynes College have agreed on a governance model for the university.

It aims to keep city students here instead of going to university elsewhere, to forge strong links with local businesses and to develop new enterprise ideas for Milton Keynes.

College Principal and Chief Executive Rob Badcock said: "The Centre will be a tremendous asset to the thriving progressive city of Milton Keynes and will be at the heart of its expansion.

"It will be a focal point for 21st century higher education and will benefit a huge number of people who will now be able to study at university level in MK."

He added: "It will combine state-of-the-art technology, research, knowledge transfer and creative learning methods to inspire potential students and encourage new commercial activity."

John Lewis, Chief Executive of Milton Keynes Partnership said: "We are delighted to support a new University Centre.

"It is a fantastic opportunity for the new city and we look forward to working with our partners to progress the plans for the future."

Fireman ensures bird family is safe

BY XENIA RIMMER

WE have all heard of firemen rescuing cats from trees, now one has shown his softer side when it comes to birds too.

While attending an electrical garage blaze in Woodall Close, Middleton, a fire crew noticed a bird box which was dangerously close to the source of the blaze.

Fourteen-year-old Xenia Rimmer, who goes to Oakgrove School, had kept the box at the house since she was ten and was concerned that the birds may be in danger.

The box was home to a family of blue tits.

So after the fire had been put out, one of the firemen, Adrian Sherratt of Broughton Fire Station got up his ladder and had a look to check if the family's feathered friends were all right.

Xenia's father Bryan said: "It was encouraging to see a member of the emergency services going beyond the call of duty with regards to wildlife. The blue tit and her young have survived and flown the nest, thanks to Adrian."

TAYLORS Milton Keynes

Final consultation heralds last post

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE Post Office's six week consultation on the future of branches in Milton Keynes is to start next week.

The consultation, launches on Tuesday.

The branches to be closed in Milton Keynes have not been formally announced, but a map leaked by the Post Office by accident in November showed five that are being considered.

These include Fishermead, Conniburrow, Water Eaton, Aylesbury Street and Little Brickhill.

John Hawking, 73, from Little Brickhill, is one of the many local residents who will be campaigning to save their local branch.

Mr Hawking, a self-employed businessman who uses the Little Brickhill Post Office every day for his work said people like him will suffer from the closures.

"People are encouraged all the time to work from home because it is more efficient and greener," he said.

"If I have to go to Woburn Sands it will take an extra hour out of my working day.

"It will reduce my ability to provide good customer service which will affect my ability to attract and retain new business."

John Hawkes outside Little Brickhill Post Office

Barry Landsberg, a member of the Little Brickhill Residents Association, added that the village shop would also be lost with the branch, which would be a real loss for the community.

To view the consultation proposals from July 8 visit www.postoffice.co.uk, click on the link to Network Change Programme and then click Current Public Consultations.

Once the consultation starts you can comment by writing to National Consultation Team, Post Office Ltd, FREEPOST CONSULTATION TEAM (no stamp is required), or call 08457 22 33 44.

Your comments may not be kept confidential unless you clearly mark them 'in confidence'.

Firefighters alarmed by proposed shift changes

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

PLANS to change the shifts of firefighters have been delayed following union protests.

The decision on whether to change the shift system worked at six of Buckinghamshire Fire & Rescue Service's stations, including Bletchley, Broughton and Great Holm, has been deferred for three months.

More than 120 firefighters, officers and emergency fire control staff and their families protested outside the service's Executive Committee last Thursday at the plans, which they said would damage family life.

Firefighters at the stations currently work two nine-hour days, starting at 9am, followed by two 15-hour nights, starting at 6pm, and then have four days off before the cycle is repeated.

Proposals to shorten the nights and lengthen the days were put to the service's committee.

A report by senior fire officers asked members to support the introduction of two 12-hour day shifts, starting earlier at 7.30am and finishing at 7.30pm.

But the Fire Brigades Union (FBU) said the changes would cause havoc with childcare, undermine fire crew's family life and make a mockery of management claims of being a family friendly employer.

It proposed an alternative of ten-hour day shifts, starting at 8.30am, and 14-hour night shifts, starting at 6.30pm.

The committee was also asked to consider an option for 11-hour days and 13-hour nights.

Members deferred the decision to the full meeting of Buckinghamshire & Milton Keynes Fire Authority on September 26 to allow more time for the relative merits to be explored.

Chairman of the Authority and the executive committee, Cllr David Rowlands said: "I was very pleased with the outcome of today's meeting and welcome the opportunity to move forwards towards a decision in September."

Ricky Matthews, Buckinghamshire FBU brigade secretary said: "Buckinghamshire's fire crews are delighted with the decision of our councillors.

"They listened to our genuine concerns about the plans to extend our already long working day by three hours and changing our start and finish times.

"All we want to do is to continue to work to keep the people of this county safe at all hours and every day of the year.

"That can be achieved within a sensible shift system that works for us and the public we serve."

Art from the classroom to the shopping centre

STUDENTS put their art on display to shoppers.

The Milton Keynes College – Art, Design and Media exhibition took place in Middleton Hall at thecentre:mk last week.

The event showcased Fine Art, Textiles & Design work of talented students from Milton Keynes College from the age of 14 years.

The exhibition featured work from students in all year groups at the college and some of the work displayed has guaranteed the students places on degree courses at institutes including the University of Lincoln and the University of Sheffield.

The main poster for the event was decided by a competition amongst all the students taking part in the exhibition. With the winner being Lauren Merrill who came up with the intriguing idea of a diary open to the world set on the exhibitions opening date and the thoughts of the diary writer in plain view.

"What is outstanding is the level of thought the students have gone into with this exhibition," said Adrian Pinckard, Head of School, Art, Media and Design at MK College. "On display is work the students have undertaken for real clients, as well as, course work for university places.

Some of the workwas selected by Rob Babcock, principal of Milton Keynes College, Dr Keith Straughan, Vice principal for Higher Education and Mike Stanley from MK Gallery and will be displayed in the new University Centre building which will be opened in October.

Not to be outdone some of the tutors' work was also on display.

New Beauty House Arrives At John Lewis Milton KeynesThursday 3rd July

Raised in France, Laura Mercier began her training at age 17 when she entered painting school in Paris. After deciding to shift her talents from the canvas to the face, Mercier attended the Carita School where she specialized in makeup application. Before long she began working closely with Thibault Vabre, a well-known French makeup artist.
In 1985, Laura Mercier moved to New York when she was asked to join the team to launch American Elle. She immediately began working on editorial spreads for magazines including Elle, Vanity Fair, Glamour, and Seventeen. Mercier also began working with Madonna on her looks for print, television and film. Subsequently, she also worked with Chanel on the company's beauty advertising campaigns in France.
In 1996, Mercier developed her own line to benefit women of all ages and skin types. She personally created the colours to satisfy the needs of her clients, based on a classic and always-current palette, rather than seasonal trends only. The line, now in its eleventh year, is available in 400 stores in 21 countries and has expanded to include skincare, bath and body and fragrance lines.
For eleven years, Laura Mercier's philosophy is simple and has stayed the same. Making your skin look perfect is the first and most important thing you can do to achieve a truly great look. The key is to enhance your natural beauty - accentuate the positive.

To celebrate this launch John Lewis are giving £250. worth of Laura Mercier products away to one lucky reader of MK News.

Was your life changed for the better by Women and Work?

DURING the last 30 years MK Women and Work has been instrumental in transforming the lives of many women in Milton Keynes.

Now the organisation based at Acorn House, Midsummer Boulevard, is celebrating its milestone with a celebration party and AGM and wants to hear from the people it has helped.

The information advice, guidance, support and training provided by Women and Work nurtures women through the process of change they face to enable them to access paid or voluntary work or further training.

Some of those changes have been life altering, like for the former prostitute who now manages a retail outlet.

She was living in a refuge when she discovered Women and Work.

She said: "If I could get every woman in the refuge to go on Women and Work courses I would."

For others the changes may not be so dramatic.

Angela, who, after her first interview in three years was offered a job with MK Council said, "How grateful I am for having come into contact with Women and Work. It all started on one of my usual window shopping days when I walked into a job fair at Middleton Hall."

Having come to England with her new husband, Neelima attended an 'Advice & Guidance Drop In' and quickly progressed through courses, voluntary work experience and making the most of advice and information provided.

She said, "Women and Work Group is a wonderful place where everyone is so helpful. It has brought back my confidence."

She used this renewed confidence, skills and information to start her own business. Neelima is now able to continue to grow her business as she starts to grow her family.

Its AGM and celebration of achievements takes place on July 11 with a celebration party planned for July 19. The organisation wants to hear from you if you have a story to tell about your time with Women and Work or what you are doing now.

Phone Janice on 01908 200186/200676.

Students highlight self harm issues in prison

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

COLLEGE students have learnt about the harsh realities of prison life in a project with young offenders.

A group of sixth form pupils at Stantonbury Campus have been working alongside inmates at Woodhill to make a video exploring the issues surrounding self harm.

The students, their parents, Deputy Mayor of Milton Keynes Euan Henderson and the young offenders involved in the project were given a first showing of the film on Friday and, the young people were presented with certificates by the High Sheriff of Buckinghamshire, Peter Thorogood.

There were 92 apparent self inflicted prisoner deaths in England and Wales last year and, seven of the those who died were under 21.

In his speech to the group prison governor Luke Serjeant hit back against reports in the national media that prisons are too "cushy" and asked why, if they are so comfortable, there is so many instances of suicide and self-harm in jails.

"Prison is tough, it is a hard place where the reality of what people have done hits home," he said.

"The young men imprisoned here are separated from their families and friends and locked away, rejected by their community."

He emphasised the importance of the jail working in partnership with the community.

"I want the prisoners in Woodhill to believe that they are worth something, that they have a part to play in society and that they matter," he said.

> Prison is tough, it is a hard place where the reality of what people have done hits home... I want the prisoners in Woodhill to believe that they are worth something, that they have a part to play in society

"We cannot do that on our own. The wider community needs to recognise the contribution that these men can make and ensure they are given opportunities to demonstrate that both while they are still in here and, more importantly, when they get back out into the community at the end of their sentences."

The self harm video is the latest in a series of partnership projects over the last four years between the high security prison, on Tattenhoe Street, and Stantonbury Campus and, involved psychology and sociology students.

The film, which will be shown to new inmates entering the jail, features dramatic enactments, poetry and interviews exploring why people self harm and encouraging those who do to seek support.

Local artist Justin Neal worked with the group to film and produce the video.

AS level student Nicola Pedder said: "It has been really good. It has given us a whole new perspective on prison life and particularly the prisoners as it made us realise they are just normal people."

She said she has learnt how difficult it can be for prisoners who self harm to accept help.

"Here because it is a confined space and so pressurised it escalates easier," she said.

Carlos, a young offender, said the video would show other prisoners that it is not just them suffering and would help to break the taboo surrounding self harm.

Have we got Moos for you...

LET'S Moo Again - like we did last summer!

Get the suntan lotion and the wet wipes ready, it's back!

Last summer, The Big Moo helped Milton Keynes celebrate turning 40 in a riot of fun.

As life begins at 40, this year it's back. And not just back, but bigger, bolder and better! So what's in store this year?

The weekend of celebrating will truly go on all weekend. Whether you're sporty, arty, musical, or scientific – or just up for a great weekend of dancing and fun there's very definitely something for you to enjoy.

The Big Moo 2 on July 11-13 will undoubtedly leave you with a song if not in your heart than firmly between the ears.

There's live music at the Big Moo Moosic Stage in Campbell Park and on the Kik Music Stage in Midsummer Place on both Saturday and Sunday. For those of you who start the weekend as soon as Friday afternoon is over, Musik4u will be providing live music in Station Square all weekend and if you're in the mood for a bit of Latin loving get down to Ramada Encore at thehub:mk on Friday for an evening of of salsa sensation.

The Ramada Encore will be the place to be on Saturday night as one of the world's recognised greatest musical talents, Harry Harris 'the best damn pianist in the civilised world' according to Jonathan Ross, plays a set as part of The Big Moo.

Harry will play jazz, cabaret ,classical and popular favourites in his own unique, awesome style.

There will be a host of sporting and cultural events taking place including a fun run, art workshops, a beach at Xscape and the Theatre District Mascot Olympics plus so much more.

For times and further details on the event visit www.thebigmoo.co.uk

Pianist Harry Harris

COMPETITION

Win Harry Harris tickets

TWO lucky couples can win tickets to see Harry Harris Live at the Ramada Encore Milton Keynes on Saturday 12th July as part of The Big Moo 2.

Plus each couple will also be offered complimentary accommodation on Saturday night and breakfast at Ramada Encore Hotel

Hailed as the new Victor Borge, Harry Harris has exploded onto the musical scene with his extraordinary talent, enthralling those who have heard him on radio or TV and astounding all those lucky enough to see him perform live. Able to blend jazz with classical and cabaret styles, every performance Harry gives is unique but never short of mesmerising.

He has the uncanny ability to play any tune to any style be it The Archers in the style of Tchaikovsky, Rule Britannia in the style of Beethoven and la Marseilles in the style of Rachmaninov. He has been musical director on several primetime shows and has accompanied just about everybody in the business from Simply Red, Charlotte Church, David Bowie, The Opera Babes and James Belushi. It is no wonder that he attracts the kind of plaudits other musicians would die for, even being billed as 'the best damn pianist in the civilised world' by Jonathan Ross and his show as 'the best music show I have ever seen' by Terry Wogan.

You have never heard the piano played like this before&.

Tickets cost just £10. If you would like to register please email: meetings@encoremiltonkeynes.co.uk and a member of the Ramada Encore team will contact you.

When the promise of parenthood turns instantly into the pain of grief

PARENTS of stillborn babies suffer the unthinkable ordeal of what was supposed to be the best day of their lives turning into the worst One such couple from Milton Keynes are campaigning amid their grief to raise awareness about stillbirth – and how it can be prevented. Reporter JESSICA CUNNIFFE found out how they hope the lasting effect of their son's short life will be stopping other families from going through what they have

FOR a child to die before he or she is even born is the cruellest of tragedies.

Parents of stillborn babies endure the promise of parenthood turning instantly into the pain of grief.

For Chris Wildsmith, 38, whose son Elliot died at full term pregnancy in July, what happened was so unexpected that no one knew how react.

He said: "One of the worst moments was when I had to ring one of our friends who put us on speaker phone in a full car.

"She was saying 'tell me tell me – is it a boy or girl?'

"I had to tell them Elliot had died. The whole car erupted into complete despair."

His wife Nichola, 44, says that the couple still keep the nursery in their Newport Pagnell home that their only son never got to see.

The software manager and interior designer described the impact of Elliot losing his life before he even had a chance to live.

"We struggled to make a cup of tea," said Nichola.

"You would make a list of things to do that day and couldn't physically do them," said Chris.

Though Elliot's life was cut short, they are determined to continue speaking about him, campaigning amid their grief about the ten babies that are stillborn every day in the UK.

That one in every 200 births is a stillbirth shows how reality belies assumptions.

After all, how many people would have guessed that three times as many babies are stillborn than die of cot death? This, the couple say, is because stillbirth is a taboo issue.

"With it being a baby it's very difficult for people to discuss because is so tragic – people don't talk about it," said Nichola.

"People have friends that dive into shop doorways when they see them because they don't know what to say. It is like being a social leper," said Chris.

He believes the social stigma of stillbirth is symptomatic of the medical profession pushing it under the carpet.

"Pregnancy has become too much about bringing your CD and candles. Risks are taken out of the equation," he said.

Figures show that 'older' mothers, those who are aged 35 or over, under 19s, black and Asian women, people who smoke and overweight people are most at risk.

Medically, stillbirth is still something of a mystery. Like half of other such babies, a post mortem did not reveal why Elliot died.

But stillbirth is not inevitable, and campaigning is not futile. Because a pioneering researcher, Professor Jason Gardosi, claims that 40 per cent of them can be prevented – if research, case studies and resources are pooled.

That is why the couple are asking their MP Mark Lancaster to take their battle to the Parliamentary stage. He told MK NEWS he is determined to get a national stillbirth strategy in place.

The possibility of future children being saved is why the couple keep campaigning – why they bravely face forums at Milton Keynes Hospital, the place they lost their only son.

"I think it's embedded in our grieving," said Chris.

"I didn't just want Elliot's name on a park bench. We want something positive to come out of Elliot's life," said Nichola.

"A lot more can be done and funding to prevent some of the births.

"We know what it's like to lose your baby.

"We wouldn't want it to happen to anyone, not even your worst enemy.

"There are occasions when you don't want to talk about it but you do because you know it's keeping Elliot's memory alive."

Lawyers rise to the challenge

FIVE lawyers from Borneos Solicitors in Milton Keynes have completed the Three Peaks Challenge.

Jordan Glackin, Dinesh Dass, Charles Clay, James Thurgood and Janita Patel all based at the firm's Milton Keynes office on Silbury Boulevard, attempted the challenge.

This challenge of endurance involves travelling to and climbing the three largest mountains in the British Isles in 24 hours - Ben Nevis (Scotland - 4400 ft), Scafell Pike (England - 3200ft) and Snowdon (Wales - 3600 ft). Just the travelling alone can total over ten hours, leaving 25 miles of mountains to be hiked in under five hours per mountain.

The challenge involved a great deal of practical and physical preparation to navigate each mountain unassisted.

In the spirit of the challenge, Team Borneos decided to support local charity Milton Keynes Community Foundation. Over £3,000 has been raised to date and the donations are still coming in.

Team captain James Thurgood said: "The challenge was completed in spite of inclement weather – ranging from 25 degree heat to heavy rain, car failure, traffic jams, injuries and mosquitos! A special thanks must go to the team's driver Jane White, as without her sterling efforts the challenge would not have been completed."

The team look forward to presenting the Charity with a cheque at their Annual Summer Reception and thank all who contributed.

New architect prompts pool rethink

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

PLANS to build an Olympic-size pool and health centre in Wolverton are to be moved.

A brand new school building may be constructed for John Radcliffe as part of the new proposals.

As reported in MK NEWS last July, Milton Keynes Council granted permission for a mixed-use development to be built on land owned by Radcliffe School, on Aylesbury Street West and adjoining Western Road Recreation Ground.

The development was to include a 50 metre indoor swimming pool and other sports facilities and, the expansion and refurbishment of existing educational facilities at Radcliffe School Morgan Hall site.

But after months of consultation and design to gain outline planning permission, a new architect has been appointed which came up with a plan to build an entirely new school and community facility fronting onto Stratford Road.

The proposed new health centre, originally envisaged to replace the old Wolverton out-door pool on Aylesbury Street West, will move to the same location with the new leisure centre, all with a shared car park.

There will also be new school blocks going towards the existing Morgan Hall school buildings, which will eventually be demolished and replaced by school fields.

The intention is to put houses on the open-air pool site, the youth club site and the Aylesbury Street West car park.

The original plans to build 550 residential dwellings along Great Monks Street will remain the same.

The Project Radcliffe Steering Group, including representatives from the school and Milton Keynes Council, claims there are many advantages to this new scheme, including ensuring that all the school traffic enters the school through a new entrance onto the main Stratford Road, and that the existing pool remains in use until the new one opens.

Rev. Jeremy Trigg, former chair of governors at Radcliffe School and member of the steering group, said: “The architect’s job is to suggest what is going to work best on the site and deliver most economically.

“This scheme will enable a total rebuild of the school which is clearly attractive.”

He added that the strong public frontage of the school onto Stratford Road would be a “delight”.

A spokesman for Milton Keynes Council said: “Essentially the components of the new proposals are the same but we are now trying to develop something new and state- of-the-art rather than a refurbishment of some of the existing buildings – so it is potentially good news for Wolverton.”

A public consultation on the proposals is currently being held and a new planning application is due to be submitted at the end of August.

Some residents have already raised concerns about the increase in traffic on Stratford Road.

Jessica Holroyd, chairman of the Wolverton and Greenleys Town Council planning committee, said: “I think it makes more sense to rebuild the school, but I have always had reservations that Stratford Road will cope with the traffic and reorientation towards Stratford Road may worsen this.”

Public consultation sessions are to be held at Radcliffe School on July 10 from 7.30pm and Wyvern School on July 12 from 10am.

Clean sweep for college's young designers

MILTON Keynes College has swept the board at a national competition to find the world's most talented young designers.

Students at the college took Gold, Silver AND Bronze at the UKSkills contest, which is the equivalent of the Olympic Games for vocational training. The prestigious event, hosted in Milton Keynes for the first time, celebrates the exceptional vocational talents of young people aged under 22.

The winning trio in the graphic design category were Kyla Hillier (gold), George Allen (silver) and Dean Collins (bronze).

Amazingly the college also took gold in the web design group which was won by Justin Wong, 21.

All four now have the opportunity to be selected to represent the UK in an international WorldSkills final to be held either in Canada next year or London in 2011.

Kyla, 19 said: "I can't believe that I have won. We had to design a poster for a new film and also packaging for children's food, it was great."

George, 19, added: "I feel really proud of myself. We are in our first year of the course and I feel I learnt new skills from being in the competition. I can't wait to go to Canada."

Rob Badcock, Principal of MK College said: "This is a major achievement for the college. To beat the cream of the crop from across the UK really shows the high level of skills that our students are working to. We are delighted."

WorldSkills takes place every two years and sees almost a thousand young people from 52 countries compete it a variety of skills from IT networking, engineering and design to welding, landscaping, hospitality and hairdressing.

MEDAL WINNERS: Justin Wong revieves his award for web design, above. Opposite Kyla Hillier, George Allen and Dean Collins celebrate their achievements

TV property show labels MK as the best location in the country

MILTON Keynes is 'the business' according to television property experts.

Channel 5's Property List revealed Milton Keynes as the best location in the UK for combining value for money with high quality of life, in their programme aired on Thursday, June 19.

Presenters Melissa Porter and Ian Blandford travelled the length and breadth of the nation in search of the ten best locations.

They considered factors including crime rates, quality of schools, transport links and employment prospects.

Milton Keynes was named number one in recognition of its 'green, open spaces', 'fantastic local amenities' and 'great transport links' with easy access to five major cities, in a new city where property prices are 20 per cent lower than other parts of the south east.

The programme stated that one fifth of Milton Keynes is green and that there is a 125-mile network of cycle and footpaths.

It was described as a thriving industrial centre and one of the UK's prime business locations with 'plenty of potential for employment.'

Despite all these benefits the programme showed that home buyers can expect to pay £151,000 for a one-bedroom character house in a desirable area of Milton Keynes, while a 'top notch' four-bedroom property is likely to cost around £350,000.

Presenter Melissa Porter said: "Milton Keynes is a well designed, eco-friendly great value for money town.

"We think this place is the business."

Ian Blandford added: "If you weigh up the quality of life here against the costs of housing and the rate of growth then the people of Milton Keynes must be pretty happy with themselves.

"If you really want to get more for your money then Milton Keynes is well worth considering. And who knows, you may never want to leave."

John Lewis, chief executive of Milton Keynes Partnership the city's regeneration agency, said: "The Property List programme reinforced how Milton Keynes offers an excellent work/life balance in a relaxed city atmosphere.

"It dispelled any misconceptions about the city and revealed Milton Keynes as offering excellent value for money and superb quality of life."

Hospital marks NHS 60th anniversary with a tasty treat

MILTON Keynes Hospital is to let the patients eat cake to celebrate 60 years of the NHS.

To mark the anniversary of the National Health Service, Milton Keynes Hospital NHS Foundation Trust is hosting a BBQ for staff and volunteers on July, 17.

On this day in-patients will be given a cake (according to their dietary requirements), along with a leaflet about how the NHS has changed over the past 60 years.

Staff and MK Arts for Health, a hospital based charity, are developing works of art and an archive of photographic images which portray the history of the Trust and the wide range of services it provides.

A more permanent exhibition will also be formed.

Throughout this 60th anniversary year, the works of art and photographic exhibition will be displayed in public communal areas of the hospital.

Dr Walter Greaves, chairman of the Trust, said: "To mark the 60th anniversary of the NHS, Milton Keynes Hospital NHS Foundation Trust is seeking to honour the unique contribution our workforce makes to our local community.

"This contribution is based on a pride, which leads to ordinary people doing extraordinary things."

The hospital is calling for photographs from any time in the past, which will be used to help form the exhibition.

If you have any photographs of the Trust or hospital staff (originals will be returned) contact Kirsty Ternent, Healthy Heritage Project Manager, MK Arts for Health, Facilities Directorate, Milton Keynes Hospital, Standing Way, Eaglestone, Milton Keynes, MK6 5LD.

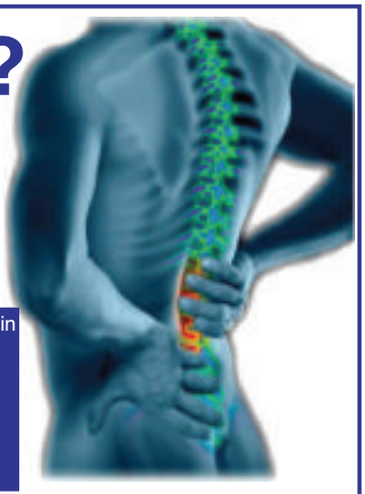
BACK PAIN?

Have you ever been properly told about all your options?



A large trial funded by the Medical Research Council in 1990 concluded that CHIROPRACTIC TREATMENT was 30% more effective than hospital outpatient management, mainly for patients with chronic or severe back pain. A follow up trial in 1995 confirmed patients with low back pain treated by Chiropractors derived more benefit and long term satisfaction than those treated by hospitals.

Welcome to the Team Dr. Thorogood

Doctor of Chiropractic, Rachel Thorogood.

Milton Keynes Chiropractic Clinic in Fenny Stratford has gone from strength to strength in the 3 years since it was established.

When asked why his clinic has become such a popular and successful clinic the principal practitioner Gary D. Jackson DC said the following:

"There are many reasons for our success but I would say that on-top of the thorough level of professional training that all associates in my clinic have undergone, the key factor is that to us patient care really means something, we are passionate about what we do and take great pride in doing the best for our patients; that is crucial and I always look for that with anyone who wishes to be based in my clinic. This is more than the case with Rachel, she is an exemplary practitioner and I am so very pleased to have her onboard. I spent 5 years studying with Rachel and I know how determined she was all those years ago as a student, I know she will be an asset to the clinic, her patients and Milton Keynes".

Rachel has had 7 years experience in clinical practice in Devon and Greater London. She graduated from the Anglo-European College of Chiropractic with a first class honours degree and a Masters degree in Chiropractic medicine.

Although 'back, neck, pelvis and limb pain', 'sciatica', 'disc and nerve problems', 'pins and needles' and 'arthritic pain' are all common problems that chiropractors are know to successfully treat Rachel's clinical expertise runs broader than that.

Since graduating she had studied numerous post graduate courses in the fields of paediatrics and sports injuries.

She led on to say "These are particular areas of interest to me. The treatment of babies and children is always rewarding and they often respond very quickly to chiropractic treatment. Common complaints include colic, feeding difficulties, sleep problems, ADHD and many more. Of course mums are often in need of treatment too! Which is especially important during pregnancy. If any of your readers have any questions about what we do and the conditions we treat them please give us a call. We look forward to hearing from you".

Milton Keynes Chiropractic clinic is located in Aylesbury Street, in Fenny Stratford. They offer evening till 9pm and weekend appointments and can be contacted on 01908 372737.

Pole position for the spotlight

POLAND is being put under the spotlight at a city event.

The evening arranged by Milton Keynes Equality Council will showcase the culture, people and lifestyle of Poland followed by a talk from Piotr Tumilowicz on the settled Polish communities in Milton Keynes.

The event is being sponsored by Virtual Viewing and Communities for Local Government (CLG).

Navrita Atwal, director of the Milton Keynes Equality Council said: "We hope that the spotlight will attract the diverse communities, statutory and public bodies to attend to find out more about the Polish community and their culture.

"It will be an informative evening with a chance to network. The programme is very important with a view to bringing communties together to explore commonalities which help to build good community relations.

"We have already started to plan our next spotlight which will focus on Central Europe"

Mr Tumilowicz said: "Milton Keynes is a very thriving and enabling environment with opportunities for all.

"It is estimated that there are more than 2,000 polish residents within Milton Keynes. The types of work they are involved in are for skilled to unskilled labour from warehouse operatives to highly trained professionals.

"They live everywhere across the city."

Managing director for Virtual Viewing, Stuart Bailey said "The 'Spotlight on Poland' evening was something that resonated with me and I was delighted to be asked to speak on the evening.

"We work extensively with Poland, some of the local authorities there and many Polish Nationals. We are proof that it's not just Polish skills coming to the UK that is a hot topic but that actually there are many UK companies, like us, seeking to work with the huge resource that Poland has as a host nation."

The evening takes place at Christ the Cornerstone Church, 6pm on Thursday, July 17.

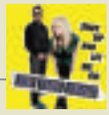
MUSIC REVIEWS

EVERYONE KNOWS (ALL THE GIRLS STANDING IN THE LINE FOR THE BATHROOM)

N.E.R.D.

IS that a long enough song title for you? It'll certainly do for me, I've just had to type all that in and it was nearly dark by the time I'd finished. Anyway, I'm not here to talk about song titles… actually, I'm not here to talk about anything really, my speciality is in writing. Now, as it happens, I actually have a lot of time for N.E.R.D. Any band that plays hip-hop with real instruments is always going to stand out, and the fact that their singles are usually a cut above the average also helps, so it's nice to see that they haven't changed what works for them. This time round, they've come up with a nice family-friendly number about ladies in night-clubs who nip off to the loo to powder their noses (Pulp Fiction style) and end up buzzing from dusk 'til dawn. Can't imagine it's too much of an issue in somewhere like Aspley Heath, but Pharrell Williams and friends have probably seen their fair share, hence the song. I like this one, not least because it calms down a little at the halfway point and then, just for a change, the original tune doesn't just kick in afterwards but instead the changeover from calm middle bit to bonkers second half bit is much more measured. These people know what they're doing, and if some of the other people who reach the charts these days paid as much care and attention to their music then I really wouldn't have all that much to complain about when I go off into my occasional rants about the state of the music industry.



SHUT UP AND LET ME GO

Tiny Tings

WELL, I've already given them three good reviews this year, that's how busy they've been. Seeing as this is the fourth, I'll get this one over and done with and then I'll move onto the next review. It's the disco one off the album, and it was used in the iPod adverts before Apple inexplicably decided to go with Coldplay's dull-as-ditchwater-on-an-overcast-day Viva La Vida instead. This is much more fun than Coldplay's song, and if that's not a recommendation in itself then I don't know what is.

TURN IT UP

The Feeling

AM I the only person thinks that The Feeling sound like a band from 1980 that went off to their local branch of Andy's Records one day, got lost in a forest (like you do) and spent 25 years completely cut off from civilisation (and by extension, musical trends) before finding their way back out again? This really does sound hopelessly dated, right down to the guitar solo during the instrumental break. Mind you, that's nothing compared to the ending – with its crashing drums and guitars all over the shop, it's the sort of ending you'd expect from a stadium rock band – IN A STADIUM. You don't end a song like that on a studio recording because when it finally does stop there should be 70,000 screaming fans voicing their approval, not a two second gap until the next track starts. It's just not the done thing. Oddly enough, I'm not overly keen on this one.

GARDENLIFE

Get set for jubilant July

JULY is the English garden at its peak and summer borders should be crowded with plants. This month I have chosen a few of the stars of July for their hardiness, attractiveness and ease of care.

Chocolate Cosmos (Cosmos atrosanguineus)

THIS is a graceful dark red flower that really does smell of chocolate> it's not that easy to grow but with a little care and plenty of water will delight through the summer. (A great plant for putting in tubs)

Daylilies (Hemerocallis)

THESE are called daylilies as their flowers only last a day. However that is not an issue as they produce a never-ending supply. They thrive in sun or partial shade will grow in any soil as long as it's not too dry and can be planted at any time of year. For long flowering period from summer to first frost choose H.Stella de Oro' or H.Corky

Potentilla 'Gibsons Scarlet'

THERE are many varieties of potentilla but this one is really dazzling. It has vivid red flowers with dark centres that are loved by bees. It will flower continuously throughout the summer particularly if deadheaded.

Anthemis Tinctoria 'Sauce Hollandaise'

THIS creamy yellow daisy like flower is great in the garden as well as making a good cut flower. It likes well-drained soil in a sunny position.

Geranium 'Ann Folkard'

THIS plant has fluorescent yellow green foliage in the spring followed in summer by vivid magenta flowers.
This display will continue through the summer until the first frost.

Hardy lilies

THERE are many types of hardy lilies some fragrant others just striking colours. The secret to growing lilies successfully is to plant them deep in the border if planting bulbs in autumn. Alternatively you can use pots of lilies as a moveable delight to fill in gaps in the borders. Everyone knows the bright pink 'Stargazer' and brilliant white 'Casa Blanca'.

Phlox paniculata

THIS striking plant (pictured) comes in many colours ranging from white through to scarlet. They fill the air with a warm summery scent but are greedy needing lots of moisture and manure when planted. To get bushy plants nip the tips out when about 30cm tall. They can suffer from powdery mildew, which is usually a sign of dryness at the roots. To combat this either plant them in partial shade which is usually damper, or ensure they get plenty of water.

Agapanthus (lily of the Nile)

THESE cool spherical flowers are slow to open and last at least a month before turning to seed. Usually in shades of blue although also available in white most are hardy to around -15 C. To perform their best they need a lot of sun, moisture and regular feeding (tomato food is ideal. They also like to be squashed so are ideal plants for containers.

OTHER JOBS IN THE GARDEN THIS MONTH

■ Sow seeds of foxgloves, sweet williams and Canterbury bells.
■ Use a forceful jet from a garden hose to knock aphids off garden plants. Spray roses to protect them against problems with mildew, blackspot or rust.
■ Finish planting out summer bedding plants in borders, baskets and containers. Fill gaps with large argyranthemums, fuchsias or pelargoniums.
■ Cut the flower-spike off delphiniums and lupins when faded. Give each plant a generous liquid feed to encourage fresh growth. Early pruning often encourages a second flush of flowers late in the season
■ Mow it at least once a week, twice if possible, and finish by cutting the edges neatly. Feed lawns, if this hasn't been done already, and treat any weeds and moss.

FAMILYFESTIVAL

MK4U is back for another two days of music and fun in Campbell Park.

The festival takes place on Saturday and Sunday between 2pm and 9pm and is conceived and organised by a large team of young people supported by a team of adults from a number of organisations from across the city including: MK ParksTrust, MK Play Association, Stantonbury Campus, Leon Sports College, MK Theatre.

All performers and organisers of this festival give their time and expertise free of charge.

MK4U works throughout the year running workshops in preparation for the festival. These are management workshops helping young people involved in the organisation of the festival understand the complexities of an event of this size.

The 2008 festival is divided into 4 Zones: The Alternative Zone, supported by MK Theatre; The Perform Zone, The Play Zone, supported by MK Play Association and the Create Zone supported by MK Gallery.

Milton Keynes Gallery Young People's Project are hosting the Create Zone which, amongst other initiatives, will showcase young artists and also screen new films created by young local media students.

The PlayZone at MK4U will do exactly what it says on the tin! It will be packed with fun and exciting opportunities for children and young people to have fun and have free choice of play opportunities.

The PlayZone will feature some of the great equipment the MKPA (Milton Keynes Play Association) has to offer; the Wickediser a humongous bouncy castle suitable for all ages, the Giant Inflatable Slide, the Climbing Tower. It will also feature more gentle play activities; giant games of chess, Jenga and snakes and ladders. Loads of fun for all ages.

The Perform Zone are giving local performers the opportunity to showcase their talents out it's professional stage and there will be at least two other stages in the festival for dance groups acoustic performers and other musicians to perform.

After all of this you can relax in the Alternative Zone& listen to poetry, watch a dance group, listen to music in the acoustic tent, join a drumming workshop, get a henna tattoo, do a little shopping or stop by for a bite to eat.

MKBUSINESS

Michael Cooper, is opening a new Cartridge World franchise on Queensway, Bletchley

Cartridge World fully loaded

BUSINESSMAN Michael Cooper has opened new Cartridge World franchise on Queensway, Bletchley.

The store was offiicially opened on Saturday providing refilling and remanufacturing of printer cartridges.

It will also supply a wide choice of printing supplies including a full range of original and compatible cartridges, printers and speciality papers.

Mike, 32, previously ran a petrol station franchise in Leighton Buzzard for ten years and sees his new venture as an opportunity to learn new skills.

He said: "Operating a Cartridge World outlet will be a completely new experience, and requires me to learn an additional range of skills including marketing and public relations. I'm confident that we can get the service and the quality absolutely right and that the business will go from strength to strength.

"Cartridge World has a product matching the quality of the manufacturer's original while giving the consumer impressive savings. We're so confident customers will be satisfied that we're offering a 100 per cent moneyback guarantee.

"Also the environmental issues are important too. Every cartridge which is refilled is one which doesn't end up in landfill where it can take up to 450 years to decompose.

"There are many businesses in Bletchley and Milton Keynes that could make substantial savings by using Cartridge World to refill their printer and toner cartridges. We will be offering a free collection and delivery service for SMEs."

Just the Guy for the job

A NEW 'Guy' is to help ensure Milton Keynes' businesses thrive.

Invest Milton Keynes (IMK), the city's inward investment agency, has announced the appointment of Guy Hawking in the role of investor development manager.

Mr Hawking will help ensure businesses enjoy long term growth and success in the city.

He has extensive experience of international business and corporate development and has recently worked as a consultant advising technology start-up and SME companies on commercial strategy.

In his new role he will work closely with business's senior management to identify opportunities and constraints to the strategic development of their business.

Mr Hawking said: "I am impressed at the number and quality of companies already in Milton Keynes.

"I'm looking forward to ensuring that people enjoy their move to the city and that it's successful for them.

"I can help them understand the range of support and expertise that is available to them and help them to develop their businesses."

Grant Seeley, director of inward investment at Invest Milton Keynes, said: "Expansion by existing investors plays an important part in growing the overall investment in Milton Keynes.

"Guy brings a wealth of relevant experience to this important role and I am delighted to welcome him to Invest Milton Keynes."

The place to be

Milton Keynes is committed, not only to the people we offer a service to but also to our teams. We are supporting people with learning disabilities to develop new skills, widen their horizons and get involved in social and employment opportunities, whilst at the same time moving our services forward to support the current expectations of developing individualised budgets.

Now we're looking for enthusiastic and talented individuals who are keen to become part of a team during this exciting time.

A vital player in our day services team, you will help adults with learning disabilities to be involved in the wider community. You will manage and supervise a team, attend reviews, prepare reports and encourage activities that promote education, social activity and employment. A proven line manager you will ideally have relevant experience of developing support networks and services for people with learning disabilities.

The only experience you will need is life experience, together with an open mind, a flexible attitude and a commitment to personal development. As this will involve working some unsociable hours, a full manual driving licence would be essential. We would especially like to hear from you if you have an interest in art, theatre, sport, football and music.

For an informal discussion regarding the above two posts please contact Andrea Natale on 01908 252670.

MKMOTORING

‘Dream’ week at Perrys Milton Keynes

PERRYS in Milton Keynes is hosting a special family event at the dealership, which will give customers the chance to win a ‘dream’ holiday as they test-drive any model from the latest Peugeot range.

Perrys Family Dream Week,will take place from July 7 -13 and is the ideal opportunity for customers to discover the versatile selection of family-friendly vehicles, including the brand new 308 SW (pictured) and the multi-purpose Partner Tepee.

Anyone test-driving a new Peugeot vehicle during the week will be able to enter a national competition to win the holiday of their dreams, where the lucky winner could choose to take their family on an adventure to the Egyptian pyramids, a tour of the Grand Canyon, a trip to Walt Disney World Florida or perhaps an exotic break in Bali.

Peugeot and Perrys Milton Keynes are supporting Make-A-Wish Foundation UK.

For every new vehicle test drive taken during the week Peugeot will donate £5 to the charity. For every vehicle bought between 7th and 13th July Perrys Milton Keynes will donate £25 which will help grant magical wishes to children and young people who are fighting life-threatening illnesses.

Children aged 11 years and under can also enter Perrys’ ‘Design your Dream Car’ competition, where three lucky winners will be given tickets to Alton Towers. Families can also enjoy a fun day on Saturday July 12, where refreshments and a bouncy castle for children will be provided.

Dealer Principal at Perrys Milton Keynes, Mike Beevis said: “The Family Dream Week is the perfect opportunity to discover our great range of Peugeot vehicles, which meet the needs of the modern day family, including the newly launched 308 SW and our Partner Tepee MPV.

“There is no better time to take a test drive in a new Peugeot and customers will not only have a superb driving experience, but also have the chance to win a dream holiday, as well as helping us to raise funds for Make-A-Wish Foundation.”

Visitors to Perrys Family Dream Week can put the new 308 SW through its paces, and test out its innovative modular seating configuration, which allows the car to seat up to seven people. Building on the success of the 308 hatchback, the 308 SW offers more interior space and the option of removable modular seating to create a truly adaptable vehicle. This is the ideal solution for those who are uninspired by the design of conventional estate cars and seek a stylish car that has plenty of space and flexibility.

Customers will also see the all new Partner Tepee, which is great for people on the go. This Multi Purpose Vehicle is the same length as a typical family hatchback, but provides more interior space and features two sliding doors, which allow easy access to the rear of the vehicle.

Peugeot’s first SUV, the 4007, is another family favourite. Powered by the latest generation HDi diesel engine technology and providing an impressive mpg performance of up to 39.2mpg, this versatile vehicle offers customers an ‘on demand’ four-wheel-drive system, as well a five plus two seating configuration. Perrys has also launched the 4007 SE Irmscher Sport Pack, which enables customers to upgrade to include Aero Star Design 19” alloy wheels on Pirelli tyres, a body-coloured rear roof spoiler, front lower spoiler and twin tailpipe finishers.

Perrys is showcasing limited edition versions of two of Peugeot’s most popular models too. The 107 KISS is a ‘must have’ for music lovers and provides one year’s free insurance for over 19s, as well as a bass subwoofer and IPOD connectivity. Finally, arriving just in time for summer is the 207 Cielo, which features Peugeot’s renowned panoramic ‘Cielo’ glass roof, allowing light to stream through the cabin.

To arrange a test drive or for further details about Perrys Family Dream Week, please visit the dealership on Bilton Road, Bletchley, Milton Keynes or call 01908 360 200. Alternatively, log on to www.peugeot.co.uk/perrys_milton_keynes

Reserve team sacrificed to concentrate on first team

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

MK DONS have scrapped their reserves team.

They have pulled out of the Combination East division to focus on the attentions on the first team and academy set-up.

Last season Mike Dove, who is currently working as caretaker manager, spent time working with the reserves as well as his academy boys.

But it has been decided the reserves were hindering the development of youth players.

Speaking to MK NEWS Dove explained why the system, which was used mainly for injured players and youth players, has been axed.

"We're not having a reserves team this year. It was decided by all those involved that it would be better to concentrate on the first team. We can always book games in for fringe players and young players. We can get teams in and play under our conditions.

"Playing Saturday for the academy then midweek you could be going to Grays Athletic to play against senior players. It's not good for the development of 17-18 year-olds.

"As a club we have to focus on our first team. To get success we have to keep putting all our resources, rightly, in to our first team.

"And this year with the reserves it's very difficult for a manager because you don't want to risk players so you delay games then have two games in a week.

"You can't expect the pros to play them so it then falls on to the young players and it's too much for them as well.

"We need to work towards getting a development group as a club and then that can be used as a reserve team, that's not just used as a kick-around, it needs to be used properly.

He added: "I believe if you are going to run a reserve team you work to get in there on merit as opposed to sticking in a few academy players.

"You have young lads playing in reserve games that a couple of years ago wouldn't."

Spirits high in MK camp

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

MOOD in the MK Dons camp is positive despite the players returning to training without a manager, according to Dean Lewington (pictured right).

On Monday the players regrouped at their Woughton on the Green training facilities and mulled over the six weeks apart which saw Paul Ince leave for Blackburn Rovers.

But Lewington insists the players have not been unsettled by the departure of a fifth manager in as many years, in fact he was more worried that his team mates would have been snapped up.

"We've come back and we haven't got a manager...again. It always seems that summer is a bad time for us, obviously we're really pleased Paul Ince has got such a good move to the Premiership, I don't think anyone can begrudge him of that.

"The spirit is really good in the camp. We've come back with nearly all the players which is a bonus because you here all the rumours and think some people might go.

"But we've still got a good core squad and everyone's quite optimistic about the new season.

"I am looking forward to it. There are such great games this season Leicester and Leeds. They're all big games for us but it's another step up and it's something we can all look forward to."

The first day back at pre-season training is not one most players look at with great excitement but the left-back admitted he was itching to get back.

"I actually look forward to it, six weeks off is a long time and you start to go stir crazy, it's nice to be back."

It was also the first time new signing Peter Leven got to integrate with his new team mates after signing from Chesterfield in the close season.

Although it was a fairly relaxed session training will soon go up a notch when the Dons meet their new Gaffer.

"Everyone likes to impress a new manager and it's a clean slate for all of the players. You have to go to zero and start again and earn respect from the manager."

Sprinter on comeback trail

CRAIG PICKERING made a successful return from injury at the weekend.

The Marshall Milton Keynes Athletics Club runner finished third behind former world champion Kim Collins over 100meters at the Gaz de France meeting.

Pickering has been troubled with a hamstring injury and was forced to pull out of the Norwich Union GB European Cup 4x100m relay squad last week.

Despite that he still managed to clock 10.25 seconds.

Collins won the race in 10.10secs ahead of Martial Mbandjock.

Pickering is set to face former drugs cheat Dwain Chambers, who is currently under pressure from the British Olympic Association not to compete at the Olympic Games, in the Olympic trails in Birmingham next week.

Swimming plan in local pool

WOUGHTON Leisure Trust is the latest organisation to implement the National Plan for Teaching Swimming (NPTS) at its pool in Milton Keynes.

The new five-year deal will see the organisation working in partnership with the national governing body until 2013.

The agreement to use the NPTS, a template for learn to swim schemes, means the centre will use the highest quality syllabus and awards system.

The plan is a comprehensive and progressive teaching programme based upon sound technical and educational principles.

The National Plan will run alongside the Kellogg's Awards Scheme and looks set to benefit over 400 children and adults that currently access swimming lessons at Woughton Leisure Centre.

The Trust, a registered charity, have been running swimming lessons for over twenty years at the centre which is located in an area of social deprivation.

The tie will be played on August,16.

Should they make it through to the Preliminary Round they will host Cirencester Town on August, 30.

Emms to quit after Olympics

BADMINTON ace Nathan Robertson has vowed to continue playing when his partner from Milton Keynes, Gail Emms retires later this year.

Robertson says he wants to feature in the London 2012 Olympics although he will have to find a new mixed doubles partner.

The British duo won Olympic silver in Athens four years ago and followed that with the 2006 world championship title.

They have recently been selected to take part in the 2008 Beijing Olympics.

Robertson said: "I'll be 35 at London 2012.

It's not unrealistic to think I can carry on until then for a perfect career-ending moment."

Lightning strike to bring back hero

MK Lightning have re-signed the unsung hero of their side.

Barry Hollyhead (right) has agreed terms to be the Lightning netminder for another year.

Hollyhead was voted players' player of the year and best defensive player at Lightning's end of season awards.

He was also named in the British Writers All Star Team for the English Premier League - another reason why player-coach Nick Poole was keen to secure his signature.

Poole said: "We had a brief discussion and agreed terms very quickly as Barry was as keen to play in MK as we were to have him.

"He does not get some of the plaudits that other netminder's get, but a lot of that is due to Barry's low key style. He is a very efficient netminder who is a true professional and the most important aspect of the decision to bring him back is the simple fact that our team is so comfortable and confident with Barry backstopping us.

"I know he is very excited about the team we are putting together and is confident he will have his best season to date.

But while Lightning fans will be delighted to hear Hollyhead is back they have been dealt the bad news that Ross Bowers will not be returning.

A statement from the ice hockey club said Bowers discussed his position and decided he had not been happy with his performances last year.

It read: "Ross felt that as he has played all his junior and senior hockey in MK he would the opportunity to ice somewhere else, which we entirely agreed with.

"We are aware that he would ideally like to ice in the Elite League and we wish him all the best and hope that he can realise his true potential, but would add that we would be very surprised if Ross did not ice again for MK at some time in the future."

Just a week earlier it had been Warkwickshire who had demolished Northants in a nine-wicket win at Milton Keynes' Campbell Park.

Essex host a tough challenge for Northants with two great all rounders in their side.

England's Ravi Bopara is set to star in the game but the man Northants will be hoping to dismiss early will be Graham Napier.

He smashed his way into the record books with a competition best of 152 not out from 58 balls, which included 16 sixes and 10 fours against Sussex last week.

Yesterday Northants were in County Championship action with Middlesex.

MORRANT FOUR COUNTIES

Division one

EATON Bray are 19 points clear at the top despite drawing with North Crawley.

Wes Hoskins hit 114 for Bray as they reached 241-3 but they were left frustrated when the resilient Crawley batted through their innings to 139-3 to take a share of the points.

Second-placed New Bradwell also drew with Milton Keynes.

Bradwell had reached 241-6 with Zaheer Ahmed's unbeaten 66 leading the way yet they were unable to dismiss MK (121-8).

Meanwhile MK City moved away from the bottom of the table following a four wicket win over Aspley Guise.

Chris Timms' all round performance helped City to victory as he claimed 4-29 to reduce Aspley Guise to 164-9 before a knock of 79 steered City to 25 points.

Olney Town lost for the fourth time this season as they fell 11 runs short of Newport Pagnell's 162 total.

Cubington (206) are in third place after they beat Winslow Town (184) by 22 runs.

Division two

EDLESBOROUGH slipped up at the top as they were handed a heavy defeat by Old Bradwell.

Bradwell (266-8) set a competitive total thanks to Jason Loveland's 89 and it was one Edlesborough failed to get near as they fell all out for 100.

Mark Roberts catches for MK - but its over the boundary and a 6 for Bledlow

Paul Brizezicki bats for Bledlow

The Open University (212-7) beat Biddenham (211-6) by three wickets while Mentmore stayed at the foot of the table after a three wicket defeat to Studham.

Aston Clinton lost to Soulbury (167) as they could only manage to post 56 runs on the board.

Division three

CARL Wright's unbeaten 117 gave Milton Bryan a seven wicket win over Shenley Church End and moved them within two points of leaders Whitchurch.

Whitchurch continued their unbeaten record by beating Caddington by one wicket.

New Bradwell 2nds fell 30 runs short of Drayton Parslow's 196-7 and are now in sixth place while Eggington Foresters stayed at the bottom after a seven wicket defeat to Turvey.

Eaton Bray 2nds kept five points clear of second from North Crawley 2nds with a 74 run victory.

Division four

PRINTERS are yet to win a game as they lost by four wickets to Cranfield University while at the other end of the table Harlington remained top following a draw with MK City 2nds.

Stoke Hammond lost ground in second place as they lost by one wicket to Old Bradwell 2nds.

Totternhoe won their match with Milton Keynes 2nds when they reached MK's 122 with three wickets to spare.

No play was possible between Steeple Claydon and Willen.

Division five

HONOURS were even between Newport Pagnell Town 2nds (195-8) and Olney Town 2nds (194-6) with David Hurley hitting 120 for Olney.

Turvey 2nds were well beaten by seven wickets by Cublington 2nds and Wing (232-4) drew with Milton Bryan 2nds (167-9) despite Jim Barroway's brilliant 123.

Division six north

THE clash between MK Park 3rds and North Crawley 3rds, in second and third place respectively, ended in a draw.

Stony Stratford 4ths got one over their neighbours Wolverton Town 3rd with a seven-wicket victory.

CHERWELL LEAGUE

Division two

AFTER three consecutive under-par performances MK Park returned to their ruthless cricket by beating Bledlow Ridge by seven wickets.

On winning the toss the trusted formula of inserting the visitors was taken and the early wickets of Ross Turner, caught behind by James Ward off the bowling of Mark Roberts and Mark Middleton, LBW to Ghufran Mohammed, had the visitors 3-2.

Mohammed (4-43) struck again in the seventh over reducing Bledlow to 16-3.

As wickets fell the visitors added some fight with Paul Brezezcki scoring 54 from 32 balls to guide his team to 137 all out.

Park's reply got off to a shaky start with skipper Graham Simpson departing without troubling the scorers.

The total was on 19 when James Ward also fell at the wicket.

Tim Chapman and Mike Alston found themselves together as Bledlow's bowlers strived for another breakthrough.

The pair added 34 for the third wicket before Chapman (21) spooned a catch to Robinson at point.

From then on it was one way traffic as the in-form Ghufran Mohammed (47no) and Mike Alston (56no) bludgeoned Bledlow's attack to all corners of Manor Fields. The visitors could do nothing to stop the onslaught as the pair added an unbroken 86 run partnership for the fourth wicket in 17 overs. Park cantered home by seven wickets in the 37th over and got their promotion hunt back on track.

NORTHANTS PREMIER LEAGUE

STONY Stratford narrowly missed out on a terrific victory as they fell nine runs short to Northampton Academy.

Stony were left to regret missing some crucial half chances in the field.

David Murphy was caught off a no ball while on single figures and he went on to make 189 not out while Ben Howgego added 97 for support.

Northants Academy declared on 342-1 from just 45 overs.

Following a demoralising fielding performance, spirits were low at the halfway stage.

While the Stony openers both got starts, it was again left up to skipper Dion Ebrahim to rebuild the innings, this time finding good support from Doug Aris, who hit 50 from 69 balls, during a 123 run partnership.

Ebrahim continued to find support from Pete Mitchell, and the Stony skipper brought up another superb hundred to give Stony a sniff of victory.

However this seemed to disappear when he eventually fell for 125, with the score on 258-6.

Mike Avery and Stuart Gulliver had other ideas, as Stony kept up with the run rate, and the score inched towards the 343 required for what would be an amazing victory.

Gulliver played superbly to keep the home side in the game and seemed to be taking Stony over the line, but it was not to be for Stony as he eventually fell for 33, as the last man out, with Stony nine runs away from victory.

It's the Italian's job...

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

ROBERTO DI MATTEO is to be named the new MK Dons manager.

MK NEWS understands the Dons will announce his appointment today and he will be unveiled in a press conference on Thursday.

The former Chelsea midfielder will take up his first managerial job and will also bring Eddie Newton as his number two to stadiummk.

The pair played together at Stamford Bridge for three years and they were the goalscorers at Wembley in Chelsea's 2-0 win over Middlesborough in the 1997 FA Cup Final – Di Matteo putting his name in the record books with his goal which came after 43 seconds, the fastest ever in a Wembley Cup final.

Despite his lack of experience Di Matteo impressed chairman Pete Winkelman with his ambition and desire to take the club forward.

While he may not have taken charge of a first team before Di Matteo recently completed his coaching badges in a course with his old team-mate and Spurs assistant Gus Poyet.

On Monday Winkelman guided Di Matteo around the Dons' Woughton on the Green training facilities where he was also introduced to the squad.

His name in the game is bound to add the glamour to the Dons that was lost when Paul Ince left for Blackburn Rovers.

At 38 years old some fans will think the appointment of Di Matteo is a gamble but it appears to be a risk Winkelman is willing to take.

He spent six years in the Premiership and became a firm favourite with Chelsea where he made 119 appearances winning two FA Cups and a European Cup Winners Cup.

Newton will leave his position at Chelsea where he has been the under-16s assistant coach since 2001 to assist Di Matteo in League One.

The Dons want the deal to be completed in time for Di Matteo to go to Portugal with the players on Friday.

MK Dons declined to comment.

Dyer quits Dons to join the Foxes

LLOYD Dyer has left MK Dons for Leicester City.

The winger's contract ran out with the Dons on June 30 and yesterday it was confirmed that he has joined Leicester on a free transfer.

Dyer signed a three-year-deal with the Dons' League One rivals.

It comes as a massive blow for the Dons as Dyer was one of the star performers of their cup double winning season.

The 25-year-old signed for the Dons in August 2006 on a free transfer from West Bromwich Albion.

Having risen through the West Brom youth system Dyer initially struggled to make an impact in the first team and spent several seasons on loan to Kidderminster, Coventry, QPR and Millwall.

When former-Dons manager Martin Allen secured his services at the start of the 2006/07 season it appeared to be a turn in his career.

At times Dyer impressed but fans became increasingly frustrated with his inconsistent performances.

It was not until Paul Ince took over last year that Dyer showed his full potential.

Ince's style of slick on-the-floor football suited the Birmingham-born player.

He went on to score 11 goals as MK Dons won the League Two championship and the Johnstone's Paint Trophy.

With the ability to set a game alight in an instant thanks to his frightening pace and desire to run at full-backs Dyer's exit leaves a gaping hole in the Dons' attack.

Leaving – Lloyd Dyer

He was named the League Two player of the month in October and was also named alongside three of his team mates in the League Two Team of the Year.

Dyer made 97 appearances for the Dons and scored 16 goals in his two years with the club.

It should make for an interesting start to the season when MK Dons begin their campaign with a trip to Leicester City's Walkers Stadium on Saturday, August 9.
